

Information You Can Use

Led by a public-private partnership between the Orange County Social Services Agency and the Orangewood Children's Foundation (OCF), the Families and Communities Together (FaCT) program was established in 1994. The FaCT network is comprised of 12 Family Resource Centers (FRC) located throughout Orange County's highest-risk communities. FRCs provide essential family support services, parent education, and community resources to isolated families.

The 2006-2011 funding cycle was the first time in FaCT's history that 12 FRCs were provided with continuous funds for a 5 year term. This allowed a number of achievements, both at the direct service and network levels, including enhanced family strengthening services, improved measurement and evaluation of outcomes, and longer term sustainability efforts within the FRC platform.

What's New?

The American Humane Association, the oldest child abuse prevention organization in the United States, has selected our Family Development Matrix Pathway to Prevent Child and Neglect project to present at its Differential Response in Child Welfare Conference, November 14-16, 2012.

Funded by the California Office of Child Abuse Prevention the Family Development Matrix (FDM) database has over 7,000 assessment cases for at-risk families. One-third of the cases are differential response referrals with child welfare partners. In a workshop experience hear from San Francisco, Orange and Santa Barbara counties their steps to improve evaluations across funders and how their family resource centers use the FDM assessments with positive results. And a presentation of evaluated outcome data across 18 counties that demonstrates the effectiveness of family engagement variables in both differential response and non-referred cases. Become familiar with the assessment format, collaborative protocol and the database that records the FDM outcomes. Time for participation and discussion with a packet of take home materials.

We are pleased to receive a three hour presentation on Thursday the 15th. Below is a description of the presentation and a link to the event program to the Matrix Outcomes Model Newsletter. This first newsletter focuses on Child Safety. We are showcasing Pathway project evaluation data, the associated interventions, and field-based practices from our project agencies. Our website has so much more for the reader and we plan to continue sharing these accomplishments from our community-based agencies.

Pathway Goal 1: Child Safety

WELCOME

CONFIRM SAFETY OF CHILD

Family workers ensure that the child is safe in the family environment by assessing the specific characteristics, including but not limited to: child has stable, secure adult relationships; parents establish appropriate boundaries for children, children have regular, consistent routines that provide a sense of security and control to children that helps them with self confidence.

WORK IN PARTNERSHIP WITH CHILD WELFARE

State and county child welfare agencies implement "differential response" protocols to connect families that do not meet abuse or neglect criteria to community resources. Although the immediate risk of abuse or neglect is low, these families can likely benefit from the supports and services. Child welfare agencies partner with community groups in neighborhoods that have a high concentration of families involved with child welfare system, to make their services more effective and acceptable and to build a "community presence."

CONNECT TO CHILDCARE OPPORTUNITIES

Promote high-quality child care environments and culturally appropriate practices. Meet families work-related needs for care during nights, weekends, summers, and holidays.
